In offering this book to the public, I wish to disclaim for it any other merit than that it is a careful, and, if not a complete, yet at all events, so far as it goes, an accurate digest of such information as I have been able to collect, by dint of hard reading and personal observation, concerning a city which I have known familiarly for the last fifteen years. I have avoided crowding the pages of the GUIDE with references; and I will only mention here, amongst the numerous works I have studied in order to obtain materials for this book, Aitchison's Treaties, Anderson's English in Western India, Heeren's Asiatic Researches, Mill and Wilson's History of India, Grant Duff's History of the Mahrattas, Orme's Historical Fragments, Forbes's Oriental Memoirs, Heber's Narrative, Hamilton's Hindostan, Milburn's Oriental Commerce, Macpherson's Annals of Commerce, Royle's Fibrous Plants of the Cotton Trade, the Wellington Despatches, the Wellesley Despatches, Fryer's Travels, Ovington's Voyage to Surat, Carsten Niebuhr's Travels, Vincent's Periplus, Yule's Marco Polo, and, amongst other official papers, Warden's valuable Memoir on the Land Tenures of Bombay, the Bombay Administration Reports, especially that for 1872-73, and Dr. Hewlett's Census of Bombay.

For all the first four chapters of the GUIDE I am solely responsible. In compiling the "Description of the City of Bombay" I have been greatly assisted by Mr. Collett, of the Bombay [illegible] and to Mr. MacPherson, of the same office, I am indebted for descriptions of the Festivals held in Bombay and [illegible] Karáchi. I have also to thank many outside friends [illegible] valuable help given to me in the preparation [illegible] work as the standard "Guide to Bombay".

THE GUIDE for the year 1899 has been carefully revised and brought up to the date of going to press. The information on the commercial and manufacturing progress of the city during the past year has been obtained from official and other authentic sources, and a sketch is given of the events connected with the plague epidemic.

The portrait of Her Highness Maharani Jamnabai of Baroda is given as a frontispiece, and is accompanied with a brief sketch of her.

The public buildings of Bombay, including those recently constructed, are fully described. The benefactions of prominent and wealthy citizens of the present and former generations, and the educational and charitable institutions founded by them are chronicled.

Much varied information has been added to that which has appeared in previous editions of the Guide, special care being taken that the local information shall meet the wants of business men and the general public.

HER HIGHNESS

THE MAHARANI JUMNABAI OF BARODA.

THE distinguished lady, who forms the subject of this short sketch, and whose death a month ago was the theme of universal regret all over the Baroda State, was the daughter of a Maharatta Jahgirdar in the Satara district, and the widow of the late Khanderao Gaekwar. The Maharaja Khanderao became the ruler of the Baroda State in succession to his brother Gunpatrao Gaekwar, who died in 1856 without male issue. Khanderao proved himself a successful ruler, and, during his reign of fourteen years, by his devoted loyalty and meritorious services, prevailed upon the British Government to exempt the State from the annual payment of rupees three lakhs for the support of the Gujarat Irregular Horse. He was also rewarded with the Grand Cross of the Star of India. At the time of his death in 1870, the young Maharani was pregnant and pending the birth of a possible heir to the throne, Malhar Rao Gaekwar, younger brother of Khanderao, was appointed Regent. The fates were kind to Malhar Rao. Jamnabai gave birth to a girl, the little Tarabai, who afterwards married the still uninstalled Chief of Savantwadi, and died a year since. In the absence of male issue Malhar Rao was placed on the gadi, and, during his reign, Jamnabai with her child led a retired life in Poona. But the painful incidents which brought about the deposition of Malhar Rao in April 1875 changed her status. Her Highness returned to Baroda, and was appointed Regent. She was then requested by the British Government to adopt an heir, and her choice fell upon the present ruler Savaji Rao, a descendant of Partab Rao, then a lad of thirteen. The selection was approved by the Government, and the young Maharaja was installed on the gadi on the 27th May 1875; and the Government of India appointed Rajah Sir T. Madhavrao Prime Minister of Baroda. The discernment, tact, and kindly feeling displayed by Her Highness in her exalted position drew forth the warm acknowledgments of the illustrious Minister and other high officials of Government. She was ever ready to take an enlightened view of the matters in which her aid was sought by the Agent to the Governor-General at Baroda ; and Mr. P. S. Melvill, writing to the Government of India in August 1876, said, "The administration is deeply indebted to the good sense, kindly feeling and assistance of Her Highness the Maharani Jamnabai." The Prime Minister, Sir T. Madhavrao, in his memorandum, submitted to the Agent to the Governor-General, said, "We have derived every possible encouragement from the cordial approval of our principles and proceedings by Her Highness the Maharani Jamnabai whose intelligence, sagacity and goodness would do honour to any Native Prince or Princess." Again, in his memorandum of December 1877, the Prime Minister wrote of the late Maharani :— "Her Highness the Maharani Jamnabai has continued to give her sympathy and co-operation in the work of reform. Her Highness's good sense and discernment have enabled her to recognise in that work the present and future good of the Baroda State. Her excellent judgment and characteristic strength of will impose on her relations, friends, and dependents a wise and necessary forbearance from interference in public affairs. Her predominant wish is that her son, the young Gaekwar, should be successfully trained to fulfil the high destinies before him, and that, meanwhile, the machinery of the State should be so arranged that it may always work smoothly and safely." The long and successful reign of the present Maharaja, under which the State has prospered beyond all previous experience, shows that Her Highness's wishes in this regard have been fully realised. In his administration report of December 1877, the Governor-General's Agent wrote to the Government of India in these terms :—"I cordially endorse the expressions of gratitude to Her Highness the Maharani Jamnabai used by the Minister. Her Highness can always be relied on for a sensible and temperate opinion, and she has continued to lend the force of her position to furthering the ends of an enlightened administration."

One of the most important and interesting events that marked her regency was the visit paid by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales to Baroda in November 1875. In narrating the incidents of that visit Sir William Howard Russel has drawn a vivid portrait of the Maharani. He describes Her Highness as "an exceedingly engaging and graceful lady, not yet thirty years of age, with a pleasant face, bright eyes, and agreeable smile. Her hands and feet are particularly small and well-shaped. The former were not overdone with rings, but Her Highness would probably not be able to take a long walk by reason of toe-rings, one of which, on her left foot, seemed to exercise some control over her motions. She was unveiled, but from time to time she drew, as if instinctively, her tissue shawl over her head. She had her little daughter, 'who', said the Maharani, 'would have been Gaekwar had she been a boy,' at her knee, and the child's governess, an English lady, sat a little behind her. The Maharani was delighted with Bombay; honoured beyond expression by the Prince's visit; hoped that he would like Baroda; and was much interested in the success of his shooting party, about which she had given orders."

The Maharani was universally popular at Baroda, both on account of her piety and her large charities, and her recovery from a very serious illness about a year ago was hailed with great delight by the people. She died at Baroda, on 30th November 1898, at the age of about 53 years.

Maclean's Guide to Bombay.

I.—GEOGRAPHY AND HISTORY.

Natural features of Bombay.

BOMBAY, the capital and chief seaport of Western India, is situated in lat. 18° 53′ 45″ N., long. 72° 52′ E. The city is built on a cluster of islands which, by means of connecting causeways and break-waters to shut out the sea, have been converted into a promontory of land, about three miles across at the northern end where it is now joined to the larger island of Salsette, and narrowing to a point of rock at Colaba, the southern extremity, where is the lighthouse marking the entrance to the harbour. This peninsula, or, as it is still called, island of Bombay, extends over an area of 22 square miles. It "is formed by two unequal ranges of whinstone rocks,[1] running nearly parallel to, and at the distance of about three miles from, each other;" and the City now covers these ridges—the highest point in which does not exceed 180 feet, which is the height of Malabar Hill just above the eastern corner of Back Bay—as well as the greater part of the plain between. From Colaba to Mahim, on the western shore facing the [1] Two papers on the Geology of Bombay, one by Dr. H. J. Carter, and the other by Dr. Buist, the late accomplished Editor of the Bombay Times, are published in a collection of Geological Papers on Western India, a copy of which is in the Asiatic Society's Library. Dr. Buist speaks of the western ridge as part of a basalt barrier running as a great sea-wall from Bassein to Alibagh, a distance of 70 miles, for which he himself had traced it, and seen through only by the creek opening into Bombay Harbour. "From the ridge eastward, for the space of two miles, the island is almost perfectly flat, rising, at the highest, 8 or 10 feet above the level of the sea: much of it would be submerged at high tides were the sea not artificially shut out. A mass of trap, mostly greenstone, extends from the Lighthouse, at the extreme south-eastern end of Colaba, on all the way to Sion, on the eastern side of the island, facing the harbour; instead of forming one continuous ridge like the basalt from Malabar Point to Mahaluxmee, it often sinks down to the level of the sea, where it is covered over with alluvium and is only traceable in wells, quarries, and other excavations: it sometimes rises into knolls, sometimes into beautiful picturesque little hills of about 100 feet in elevation." Sion is the Marathee word Seun—a boundary. The Portuguese pronounced it correctly enough; but the English corruptly pronounce the word as if it had something to do with the Mount Zion of the Bible.

Indian Ocean, is a distance of eight miles, and this side of the island is indented with several beautiful bays, accessible only to fishing boats, the largest being Back Bay, a false harbour extending from Colaba Point round in a graceful sweep to the opposite point of Malabar Hill. On the eastern side of the island extends the deep, capacious, and well-sheltered harbour, an arm of the sea studded with islands which separates Bombay and Salsette from the mainland, and, passing round the northern shore of the latter island at Tanna, enters the Indian Ocean again at Bassein. "The haven of Bombay," says the author of a Description of the Fort and Island of Bombay, published in 1724, "comprehends all the waters that enter between Colair (Bandora Point), on the west point of the island of Salsette and the two small islands of Henery and Kennery, on the south, near the main land." On a map dated the same year, the "old place of riding for ships in winter" (during the monsoon) is marked as near Tanna, and "the present place" off the Fort; while there is said to be "safe riding" between Butcher's Island and Elephanta. Opposite Colaba, the harbour is six miles broad.

The name Bombay.

"The island of Bombay, or Bombaim as it is called by old writers, has been naturally supposed by Europeans to derive its name from the Portuguese, and to have denoted an advantage of its geographical position. But Briggs declares, without, however, giving his authority, that in ancient days part of the island was called Mahim, and part Mumbayé, from an idol. And, certainly, an old temple, dedicated to Moomba Devee, or the goddess Moomba, formerly stood on the plot now called the Esplanade." (Anderson.) The tank and temple of Mombadevee, in the most frequented part of the native town, still preserve the name. Yule (Marco Polo) detects in the latter part of the compound name Tanna-Maiambu, which, according to Barbosa, was used to designate the kingdom of the Concan in the beginning of the sixteenth century, the first historical mention of the name Bombay. I would venture to suggest that the word Mahim itself may be identical with Maiambu and

The Portuguese Occupation.

Mumbayé. I find, in the Description of Bombay in 1724, a statement that "Mahim was the name formerly of the whole island. There was in old time built here by the Moors a great castle; and, in the time of the kings of Portugal, this was the place where the court and the custom-house were kept, and here were the duties paid by the vessels of Salsette, Trombay, Callian, and Bewndy on the main." As, however, the place really had no history before the Portuguese occupation, it is useless to discuss further the origin of the name, Bombay, which, if it be interpreted to mean "good harbour," is at all events a most felicitous title. The island, probably, fell into the hands of the Portuguese in 1529. From May 18, 1498, the day on which Vasco da Gama reached Calicut, the power in the Eastern seas of the European nation that had had the skill and fortune to discover the passage round the Cape of Good Hope had gone on rapidly increasing till it became quite irresistible. From 1505, says Lafitau (Histoire des Découvertes et Conquêtes des Portugais), the Portuguese had such a superiority that they laid down the law wherever they went in India. They contented themselves, however, for a long time with destroying the maritime trade carried on by the Moors or Arabs in the Indian Ocean, and making settlements on the Malabar Coast to the south of Bombay, at Calicut, Cannanore, Dabul, and Chaul. Albuquerque took Goa (then esteemed the best port in Western India and one of the most considerable cities in the peninsula) in 1510, and made it the metropolis of Portuguese India. But between Goa and Ormuz, at the entrance of the Persian Gulf, the Portuguese held no place at that time considered of great importance till the middle of the century, when (1546), after repeated contests, they at last acquired Diu. They, however, frequently ravaged the intervening coast, and in 1530 Nugno da Cunha, after pillaging Surat, sailed to Bombay to exact from "the king of Tanna"—a prince holding this maritime district under the Sultan of Guzerat (Beder)—the tribute he had "agreed to pay the previous year." In 1531 the same Viceroy selected Bombay as the general rendezvous for a formidable expedition with which he first assailed Diu, and afterwards (1533) took Bassein, which, with its dependencies, including Salsette and Bombay, was formally ceded by Sultan Bahadur of Guzerat in 1534. In the latter half of the sixteenth century, when Portuguese rule was securely established along the coast, Bombay was made one of the districts under the control of the captain-general of Bassein. The English, who first made their appearance as competitors for the Indian trade at the end of the sixteenth century, soon cast covetous eyes on Bombay, and they made one or two ineffectual attempts to get possession of it before it was ceded to England, in 1661, as part of the dowry of the Infanta Catherine, on her marriage with Charles the Second. Article XI. of the treaty of June 23, 1661, referring to the cession, says, it is made "for the better improvement of the English interest and commerce in the East Indies, and that the king of Great Britain may be better enabled to assist, defend, and protect the subjects of the king of Portugal in those parts from the power and invasion of the states of the United Provinces." The Portuguese in India, however, at that time probably resented as an insult the suggestion that they required English help to protect them against the Dutch. After the cession, the Earl of Marlborough, with a fleet of five men-of-war and 500 troops under Sir Abraham Shipman, was sent from England with a commissioner from Portugal, to take over the island. But the Portuguese governor, when the fleet arrived in September 1662, refused to give up the "dependencies" of Bombay, Salsette and Caranja, along with the island itself: and Lord Marlborough went home, while the troops—the first body of regular English soldier ever sent to India—were landed on the island of Angediva, of Carwar, where Sir Abraham Shipman and most of his men died, and Mr. Cook, Sir Abraham's secretary, signed a convention accepting the cession of the island alone. Charles II. repudiated this convention and demanded from the court of Portugal £100,000 as compensation for the loss suffered by shows the sagacity of the English merchants of those days, and enables us to understand why they soon outstripped their intolerant Portuguese rivals. Land in Bombay being, for the most part, valueless for want of population, the early settlers under English rule were allowed to occupy waste plots of ground and build upon them; and there can be no doubt that a large proportion of the private property now existing in the island was created in this way. The city soon became a place of refuge for natives from the neighbouring, and even from distant, territories; and Bombay can share with Rome and other great cities the reproach of having been founded by adventurers of indifferent characters. Dr. John Fryer, who visited the island in 1675, and whose Travels, published in 1682, have supplied the best materials for all the accounts that have since been written of the state of Bombay at that period, says:—"The population numbers 60,000, more by 50,000 than the Portuguese ever had—a mixture of most of the neighbouring countries, most of them fugitives and vagabonds." To this day, as we shall show more in detail in the section on population, Bombay is a real colluvies gentium, and a satirist might, perhaps, apply to it terms as harsh as Dr. Johnson unfairly used to describe the English capital a century ago:—

Character of the Population.

> London, the needy villain's general home,
> The common sewer of Paris and of Rome.

It can hardly be the case, however, that the manners of the English residents have not improved since 1689, when Mr. Ovington, chaplain to His Majesty, visited Bombay, and ascribed the general bad health of Europeans to the great wickedness that reigned upon the island. "For I cannot," says the worthy chaplain, "without horror, mention to what a pitch all vicious enormities were grown in this place, when the infection was most outrageous; nor can I but think that the Divine Justice interposed, and forwarded those fatal infelicities which are not wholly imputable to an impure contagion of the air, or the gross infection of the elements. Luxury, immodesty, and a prostitute dissolution of manners, found still new matter to work upon. Wickedness was still upon the improvement, and grew to resist an invasion of Bombay by the Seedee, and "bowers dedicated to ease" had consequently been turned into bold ramparts, while the walks, "which were before covered with Nature's verdant awnings and lightly pressed by soft delights," were "open to the sun and loaded with the hardy cannon." "Within the Fort were mounted 120 pieces of ordnance, and in another convenient place stands 20 more, besides 60 field pieces ready in their carriages to attend the militia and Bundaries," &c. "At a distance enough from the Fort lies the town, in which confusedly live the English, Portuguese, Topazes (Indo-Portuguese), Gentoos, Moors, Coolies, and Christians—mostly fishermen. It is a full mile in length; the houses are low and thatched with oleas of the cocoa trees; all but a few the Portuguese left, and some few the Company have built. The custom-house and warehouses are tiled or plastered, and, instead of glass, use panes of oyster-shells for their windows. There is also a reasonably handsome bazaar at the end of the town, looking into the field, where cows and buffaloes graze. The Portuguese have a pretty house and church, with orchards of Indian fruit adjoining. The English have one a burying place called Mendam's Point, from the first man's name therein interred, where are some few tombs that make a pretty show at entering the haven, but neither church nor hospital, both of which are mightily desired." This was written 200 years ago; and now, though we have plenty of churches, the "hospital" for the English is still "mightily desired."[1] "On the back side of the towns of Bombaim and Mahim are woods of cocoas, under which inhabit the Bundaries (those that prune and cultivate them), these hortoes (oarts) being the greater purchase and estates in the island for several miles together, till the sea breaks in between them, over against which, up the bay, a mile, lies Mazagon, a great fishing town, peculiarly notable for a fish called Bumbalo[2]—the sustenance of the water.[1] The population had by that time greatly outgrown the limits of the Fort, and the eastern portion of the native town was already built over; but it is only within this century, since the great fire of 1803 in the Fort, that the Flats have been extensively built over. The surface of the occupied ground has been raised, and is now tolerably well drained; but a great part of the area is still below the level at which the rain runs off in the monsoon, and is flooded for four months during the rainy season of the year. The island has been extended in other directions, towards the harbour and Back Bay, by the reclamation of the foreshores, and it is now not inaptly compared to a saucer or shallow rocky basin filled with sand, and protected against the encroachments of the sea by hills and embankments.

[1] This was written in 1875. In the year 1877 the Bombay Government at last removed from itself the reproach of having provided no decent hospital accommodation in Bombay for European patients, by setting apart for their use spacious building in Fort George. This hospital is endowed with nearly £10,000 raised by public subscription in Bombay.

The unhealthiness of Bombay 200 years ago.

This settlement of rock, swamps, and jungle seems to have been a perfect charnel-house for the English two centuries ago. Mr. Ovington proposed that "as the ancients gave the epithet of Fortunate to some islands in the West, because of their delightfulness and health, so the moderns may, in opposition to them, denominate Bombay the Unfortunate one in the East, because of the antipathy it bears to those two qualities." And certainly the account he gives of the place would justify the epithet. There was very little corn or cattle in the island, but what was imported from the adjacent country, "and these not in [1] There is rather an amusing anecdote about this Hornby or Breach Candy vellard. Governor Hornby (who appears to have been possessed of unusual energy and determination), perceiving that the first step towards improving the sanitary condition of Bombay was to shut out the sea at Breach Candy, fought hard throughout his term of office to obtain from the Court of Directors permission to execute this work at a cost of about a lakh of rupees. The Directors refused steadily to sanction such an extravagance. At last Governor Hornby, having only about 18 months more to serve, commenced the work without sanction, knowing full well that he could finish it before the Court of Directors could possibly interfere. Accordingly, about the time the vellard was finished, Governor Hornby, opening with his own hand the despatches, found an order for his suspension, which, his term of office being nearly expired, he put in his pocket, until he had finally handed over charge to his successor. The Honourable Court of Directors were excessively irate, and an order came out which, we believe, has ever since been in force, that the governor should never open the despatches in future, but that they should first be perused by one of the secretaries to Government.

thence to our newly acquired possessions in Burma, which were annexed by Lord Dufferin in January 1886. The Bhore and Thull Ghaut inclines, both splendid specimens of engineering skill, were opened, the former in 1863, and the latter in 1865; through communication with Calcutta was established in 1870, and with Madras in 1871. The Nagpore section of the north-eastern line, which brings the Central Provinces into close connection with Bombay, was opened in sections from 1863 and completed to Nagpore on 20th February 1867, and the Hyderabad (Deccan) branch, on the south-eastern line, in October 1874. The usefulness of a branch from Khundwa to Indore is unfortunately impaired by the adoption for it of the narrow or metre gauge instead of the standard broad gauge (5 feet 6 inches) of the main line. Altogether, the Great Indian Peninsula Railway has now 1,450 miles of line open. Communications in Guzerat used to be worse than in the Konkan and Deccan, for there were no made roads at all in that province. This did not so much matter in the fair season, when the whole country, which is level and free from stones, and in which the rivers are easily fordable, except during the rains, might be regarded as one road, and when, besides, the communication by sea was open; but for three or four months every year the inhabitants of Guzerat were denied all means of access to Bombay, and many a luckless European in Kattywar or at Ahmedabad or Baroda has died of sickness that might have been easily cured if he had been able, in the rainy season, to get away to another climate. The Bombay and Baroda Railway has changed all that. The first section of this line, from Amrolee to Unclesur, was opened in 1860; the section from Broach to Baroda in 1861; the section thence to Ahmedabad in 1863; and in 1864 the line, which the Company had been forced by the Government to begin work upon at a distance from its base of operations, was completed southwards as far as Bombay. The line now extends beyond Ahmedabad to Wudwan. From Ahmedabad going north-east, a metre gauge line has been carried on to Ajmere, 299½ miles, there connecting with the lines on the same gauge from Delhi and Agra, and giving direct railway communication between Bombay and the North-West. This line was opened as far as Pahlunpore in November 1879, and through to Ajmere in December 1880. Two lines to Scinde, one from Patree, on the B. B. and C. I. Railway, and another from Pahlunpore, on the Rajputana-Malwa Railway, are under survey. For purposes of administration such a line would be of much value to Government, and in time to come it may form part of a real overland route to

The Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway.

England. The Bombay and Baroda line has probably had as serious difficulties of construction to contend against as the G. I. P. Railway, for it crosses many broad rivers on costly bridges. It has, too, the disadvantage of running parallel to and within a short distance of the sea coast, so that it is exposed to the competition of cheap sea-carriage. But, on the other hand, it runs for at least half its distance through the cotton country of Guzerat, containing the most fertile and thickly populated districts in Western India; and it enjoys, therefore, a profitable local traffic. Another important line of railway communication was opened for traffic in December 1880, the Bhownuggur-Gondal Railway in Kattiawar. It runs from Bhownuggur north to Wudwan, a distance of 104 miles, and is built on the metre gauge; at Wudwan it connects with the B. B. and C. I. Railway. A branch line runs west from Dhola to Dhoraji, a distance of 89 miles. And this has been extended to the rising ports of Porbandar and Veraval. These lines were built at the joint expense of the Bhownuggur, Gondal, Junagadh and Porebunder States, and are under the management of a Committee appointed by them. At Bhownuggur the rails are laid along the bunder, where ships drawing over 20 feet can lie in safety. All classes of the natives, however, appreciate justly the great boon of railway travelling, and the dismal prophecies of men who foretold that no native of good caste would ever defile himself by entering a railway carriage have been agreeably refuted by experience. A very useful line recently opened is the one connecting the town of Godhra, in the Panch Mahals, with the town of Rutlam, the capital of the native state of that name in Central India. The line is 115 miles in length, and affects at Rutlam, a junction with the Rajputana-Malwa State Railway, leading to Ajmere, Oojain, Indore and Khundwa. Further extensions through the districts of Jhaiapatan, Kotah and Kerowli are proposed, and line from Jeypore to the Chumbal having already been reported on. A line has been opened from Itarsi to Bhopal, Jhansi, Gwalior and Agra, and another from Jhansi to Manickpore on the East Indian Railway. The new Railway system, called the Southern Mahratta Railway Company, has, reckoning the Mysore State Railway as a part of it, a total of 1,060 miles of line. The first soil of the West Deccan section of this system was turned by Sir James Fergusson, Governor of Bombay, on the 13th February 1884. This line runs from Poona to Belgaum about 250 miles. It has been connected with the South Deccan section at Londa and from thence with the coast at Marmagoa by the West of India Portuguese Railway. Of the third main section of the S. M. Railway system, the first division of the line from Poona to Koregaon, covers a distance of 83

Cotton Pressing.

The necessity of reducing so bulky an article as cotton into the narrowest compass before shipping it to Europe led to the introduction at an early date, (1694), of machinery for screwing the loose bales down into bales of smaller measurement. Improvements have been continually made in the cotton screw, till now the pressure applied is so enormous that fully three of the ordinary up-country "docras" of cotton can be screwed into one full-pressed bale of 392 lbs. Much of the pressing is now done in the cotton districts of the interior to will remain, how late or how early the Buddhists ceased to be rich and powerful in Western India? or when, if ever, the followers of the Brahminical creed were likely to pay honour to Buddhist symbols of the Deity? The latter question is at variance with all usual opinions as to the difference between these sects and the animosity which has ever prevailed betwixt them. But I have been very forcibly struck by the apparent identity of the Buddhist chattah and the Brahminical lingam. The very name of the great temple of Ava, 'Shoo-Madoo,' 'Golden Maha-Deo,' seems to imply a greater approximation than is generally supposed, and above all, a few weeks afterwards, I found the cave of Carlee in the keeping of Brahmins, and honoured by them as a temple of Maha-Deo."

Heber notices with surprise the uncultivated state and scanty population of Salsette fifty years ago, when the island had only 50,000 inhabitants, chiefly poor fishermen. The neighbourhood of Bombay has since caused a great change. The population has been doubled, being now 93,000 or 570 to the square mile, and no land that will bear crops of any kind is allowed to lie waste.

Bassein.

Many trips may be made on the water to points on the coast near Bombay; but none to equal in beauty the sail round by Tanna to Bassein. A moon-light night should be chosen for the excursion. Bassein is not worth seeing for itself, except that the utter desolation of what was once a flourishing Christian city is impressive.[1] Some of the ruined churches must have been of great size, but "in a paltry style enough, of Grecian mixed with Gothic." Is "Venetian-Gothic" a similar style? There is one tomb dated 1606. It is the scenery on the way to Bassein that makes the pleasure of the trip, the sea winding in and out amongst numerous and lofty islands for many miles. There is, indeed, no lake and river scenery in the world to beat the choicer bits about Bombay. To vary the journey the excursionist may return to Bombay from Bassein by railway.

Carlee Caves.

The most comfortable way of visiting these famous Buddhist caves from Bombay is to proceed by the G. I. P. train to Lanowlee on the top of the Bhore Ghát. The journey up the Ghát forms in itself a very interesting part of the excursion. After having engaged a pony for 5 o'clock next morning, dine and pass the night at Lanowlee waiting-room. At daybreak ride up the Poona road for about three miles, and turn off to the left at a path to which the ghorawalla or a guide should previously have been sent to show the way to the Karla or Karlee Hill, about a mile off the road. The traveller can then return to Lanowlee, or Khandala, and breakfast and return to Bombay by a train leaving about noon. The cave is the largest as well as the most complete, hitherto discovered in India, and was excavated at a time when the style was in its greatest purity (Fergusson's Hand-Book of Architecture). It is supposed to be about the era of Salivahana, or A.D. 78. It is hewn in the face of a precipice, about two-thirds up the side of a hill, which rises 800 feet above the plain, and is approached by a narrow path among trees and brushwood. An insignificant temple of Siva serves as a sort of gateway. The entrance portico (following Fergusson's and Heber's descriptions) is 52 feet wide, and rests on four columns, two of which are set in the walls. In front of it, on one side, stands a lion pillar, so called from having four lions fixed back to back in its capital; the site of the fellow pillar, on the other side, appears to be occupied by a small temple. The doorway under the portico is through a screen, above which rises a rather imposing arch. The inside of the screen is carved with naked male and female figures larger than life. Three colossal elephants are also seen in relief, their heads looking outwards and boldly projecting from the wall. The temple is something like an oblong church with a nave and side aisles. It is 126 feet long by 45½ feet broad, and has a circular apse behind the shrine. The roof is circular, resting on 41 pillars, each of those in the aisles having a "tall base, an octagonal shaft and richly moulded capital, on which kneel two elephants, each bearing two figures, generally a man and a woman, but sometimes two females, all much better executed than such ornaments usually are."—Fergusson.) The pillars behind the shrine are plain. This shrine is a dome on a circular drum, surmounted by the remains of a wooden chattar or umbrella. The only light which is admitted within the building falls on this object, with great effect. Some of the wooden ribs used in constructing the roof are still left. The interior is spacious and in good repair. Besides the principal temple there are many smaller apartments or cells, evidently intended for the lodging of priests or hermits, some ornamented with great beauty. Altogether, it would, says Heber, form a very noble temple for any religion.

[1] For account of the siege and destruction of Bassein, see work by Dr. Da Cunha on the History and Antiquities of Chaul and Bassein.

Ajanta Caves—By G. I. P. Ry. to Pachora, 232nd mile; Rs. 14-8 and Rs. 7-4; thence to Furdapur (30 miles), from which village the Caves are visited. Small waiting room at station, also travellers' bungalow. It is possible to drive a tonga, but the road is rough, and riding is pleasanter. The best way is to leave Pachora at 4 a.m., stop at Sindurni (17 miles) during the heat of the day, either in the School-house, or under a tree (there is no dak bungalow), and finish the distance in the evening. Travellers must furnish their own provisions, bedding, and servants. Post Office at Sindurni, 17 miles. Good country carts and bullocks may be obtained by writing to the Mamlatdar of Pachora. The journey may be accomplished with a change of bullocks at Sindurni, in about eight hours. At Furdapur there is a dak bungalow. A guide is required to show the road to the Caves. These Buddhist Caves are 29 in number, carved in the amygdaloidal trap, and are among the best specimens of Cave architecture in India. Caves Nos. 1, 2, 6, 9, 10, 11, 16, 17, 19 and 20 are the only ones containing remains of the celebrated fresco paintings, supposed to be fourteen hundred years old, and admirably illustrate the religious and social life of the people of India when Buddhism was prevalent. Route from Ahmednagar via Aurungabad, also from Jalna.
Ajmere—B. B. and C. I. Ry. to Ahmedabad (310 miles); thence by Rajputana State Railway to Ajmere (305 miles) ..... One of the principal towns in Rajputana surrounded by a stone-wall, in which there are five lofty gateways of great architectural beauty. Head-quarters of the Rajputana State Railway, and the junction for the military station of Nusseerabad. Good travellers' bungalow close to the station. Conveyances can be obtained at the travellers' bungalow. The Mayo College is a very handsome edifice for the education of the Princes of the Rajputana States. 	Educational Director, Deputy Commissioner, Executive Engineer, Native Training and Boarding School, Church, Town Hall, Club, Government Telegraph Office, Library, and Rest-camp for Troops. The river Moorna, spanned by an iron girder bridge, separates the old town of Akola from the new. The Moorna has two annicuts. The Central Jail and Civil Dispensary are about 1½ miles from the railway station. The Central Jail is capable of accommodating 500 prisoners, and is worth a visit, as also the Jail Garden. The Barracks constructed in 1857 for the troops have now been appropriated for Government offices, branch Bank of Bombay since October 1888, and residences. Akola is about 390 feet above the level of the sea, and is very hot from February to June; feverish climate. Wild pigs, antelopes, and nilghai, within a circuit of 20 miles. Jheri, (timber mart), at the foot of Malghat, is about 46 miles distant, where tigers, bison, sambur, "blue bulls," are to be found. Pea fowl is obtainable at Dhulghat and Sisurda. Good native shikaris can be had at the latter places. There is no made-road to Jheri from here. Akola is the nearest railway station to Bassein, 50 miles, and Hingolee, 30 miles (q. v.) by mail cart on a bridged road. The area of the Akola District is 2,650 square miles; population, 5,74,782. Nurnalla Fort (q. v.), 42 miles. Waiting Rooms at the station, also Dak Bungalow and a Serai for natives close by. Akola has a population of about 17,000. The town is divided by the River Murna. It possesses a Central Jail holding 500 prisoners, and well known for its manufacture of Purdahs, Carpets, Fancy Canework, &c. Close to the Railway Station is the "Temple Garden." Two Cotton presses under European manavement. Principal products: Art Dyes, Gums, Seeds, Cotton, Wheat and Grain, &c. Three fairs of some importance are held. "Patur Shekh Babu" in February, distant about 16 miles, lasts for 20 days; "Sorala" and "Akat" in November, last 5 and 12 days, respectively. Akola is the direct road for the cotton market of Akote, distant 28 miles in a North-east direction. Good metalled road. Also the direct road for the district of Bassein and for the Military station of Hingoli, the latter distant about 80 miles. Akote is a large town, and during the cotton trading season is largely attended by both European and native dealers; it is also celebrated for its carpet manufacture and carvings about houses. The town of Mekar is about 30 miles from Akola, and about 15 miles south of Mekar on the Jalna road is the celebrated Soda Lake, called "Lonar," formed in the crater of an extinct volcano. The salt is used for washing and dyeing purposes, and is exported in considerable quantities. At Nagerdas, a village about 40 miles from Akola, a fair is held twice annually	22	C-13

Passengers by this route can avail themselves of the through carriage which runs daily between Bombay and Lahore. Amritsar is the great piece-goods market of the Punjab, and is celebrated for the excellence of its manufacture of Cashmere goods, and for the Great Shikh Temple, known as the Golden Temple, and the handsome tank, which is known as the pool of immortality. The pool is fed by a conduit from the B. Doab Canal. The dome of the temple (as are those of two or three others in its vicinity) is covered with gold, and is dedicated to the warrior saint, Govind Singh. There is a very fine clock-tower in the square leading to the tank. The Public Garden at Amritsar, the Rambagh, was once the park of a royal residence: it has now been laid out with considerable taste as a flower garden with walks and drives. The fortress of Govindghur is three miles from Amritsar. Three hotels and travellers' bungalow. Amritsar is 32 miles from Lahore (q. v.)

Anantapur.—In the Bellary or Ceded Districts, head-quarters of Collectorate. The traveller can proceed either from Gooty or Tadpatri. Picturesque large tank, and the Muchulota hills have to be crossed. Sports fairly good.

same name, is now a city in ruins. About 8 miles from Aurungabad, N.W., is the Fortress of Doulatabad, (2,480 feet above sea level), to see which it is necessary to procure a pass from the Subha through the station staff officer, Aurungabad. This extraordinary hill consists of a vast conical-shaped rock, scraped all round to a complete perpendicular for a height of 120 feet from the base. The upper part of the hill is reached through a low, narrow, dark passage hewn in the solid stone, and leading to a large vault excavated in the interior of the hill. At the summit there is a Baradhari (bungalow), a delightful view. From this chamber a vamp or gallery gradually sloping upwards winds round in the interior. A number of iron guns of Oriental manufacture: also stone shot. At a short distance outside the ditch is a minaret, about 210 feet high, said to have been erected in commemoration of the first capture of this place by the Mahomedans. At Aurungabad is a very handsome tomb of Rabia Durani, called Beebi Mookbara daughter of the Emperor Aurungzebe. It is a model of the famous Taj at Agra. From Aurungabad the traveller may visit the Ajanta Caves, 54 miles: via Phulwari, 14 miles; Selhod, 21 miles; Ajanta, 49 miles; and Furdapore, 5 miles; at which places there are travellers' bungalows. From Furdapur to Pachora, G. I. P. Ry. station, is 30 miles. The city is 1½ mile from the Military Cantonment. The military officers of the H. C. have a bungalow given them in the city, situated on a very high spot, and known as the Burra Baldari. This station is also the headquarters of the Nizam's Revenue Survey and P. W. Departments. The military have their own P. W. D. sub-division officer. The coin is Halli sicca currency. Good grapes, peaches, English figs, and oranges can be had here and at Doulatabad when in season. The river Kaum (Gundanulla) separates the city from the Cantonment. The average rainfall annually is 28 inches. Nagpur (old dak line) road is 294 miles from here. Aurangabad mean height is 1,885 feet above sea level. The caves of Ellora are 14 miles N. W. of Aurangabad via Doulatabad.

Avady.—For Poonamallee (Madras line), a military depôt and pensioner's residence, twelve miles from Madras. Avady is four miles distant, and is the nearest railway station on the Madras line. Tripassore, once a famous historical town, fourteen miles further, is now going to ruin. It is situated in the Chingleput district, 3 miles from the Trivellore station 50-8 1 9½

Baroda—By B.B. and C.I. Ry. (247 miles), is the capital of the territory of H. H. the Gaekwar. There are good refreshment rooms, also waiting rooms and sleeping accommodation at the railway station. Conveyances meet all passenger trains, and there is a travellers' bungalow in the camp, about 1½ miles from the station. Among the sights is the new palace built after a design by Mr. R. F. Chisholm. The gold and silver guns can be seen on application to the Prime Minister. The Camp has much the appearance of an English park, a feature which the country presents from here as far as Ahmedabad. In the Camp are stationed portions of a Battery of Artillery, two Companies of British Infantry, and a Regiment of Native Infantry. The British Resident also lives in the Camp. The late Sir James Outram was Resident here, and his memory is perpetuated in the racquet court and swimming bath, which were constructed with money offered to him as a bribe, and which he successfully solicited the Government to be allowed to take that he might devote it to the benefit of the troops stationed at Baroda.		15-8	0 9½
Barsi—By train 231 miles from Bombay to Barsi Road, thence (20 miles) by Barsi Light Railway to the Town of Barsi. The great fair, in honour of Vithoba (Vishnu), is held at Punderpur, about 32 miles distant from Barsi Road. This is the nearest railway station to Mominabad, Hyderabad Contingent Station. A tonga dak runs to Punderpur from Barsi. There is also a First and Second Class waiting and refreshment room.....		14-10	...
Bassim—By G. I. P. Ry. to Akola. Thence by tonga to Bassim, distant 50 miles, Rs. 7 for one seat. There are Post and Telegraph Offices, and Deputy Commissioner's and Tehsildar's Cutcheries, and Civil Hospital. There is a made-road from Akola to Bassim. Pathoor, B. and P. O., 20 miles, metalled road diverts to Khangaon; Maidsee B. 8, and Mallagaum B. 8 miles, and Bassim, 13 miles. Travellers' bungalow at Bassim. Tonga mail service to Akola. Bassim District is 2,958 square miles in area, and the population is 3,58,883; shikar abundant. The highest mountain is 2,000 feet high in the Poosad taluq. Bassim is 1,000 feet above the level of the sea..		22-11	...
Bassein.—By B. B. and C. I. Ry., 34 miles. It is the first station on the mainland, which is connected with the Island of Salsette, and two long bridges, from which a distant view of the famous ruins is obtained. There are waiting rooms at the station and a travellers' bungalow near the ruins, which are five miles from the station. Ponies can be obtained close to the station; mail trains do not stop at this station.....		2-2	0 2

Benares—(937 miles). Via Jubbulpore and Allahabad. Through train to Mogul Serai, thence by branch line 6 miles; Junction for O. & R. Ry. The European quarter is named Sekrole, and is about 4 miles from the railway station. Benares is a sacred city of the Hindoos, and was originally called Kasi and Kasika. The temples and shrines number over 5,000. In addition to these there are a number of magnificent buildings, residences of wealthy princes, interspersed with mosques and temples. Here is also the Musjid of Aurungzebe, the great Durga Temple, and a celebrated tank. The place is infested with monkeys, which are venerated by the Hindoos. The Golden Temples of Vishweshwar and Bhaironath, the Well of Fate, should be visited, as also the remains of the Buddhist establishment (Sarnath), about 4 miles from the city. Intelligent guides can be obtained at the hotels, of which there are two, Clark's and the "Hotel de Paris." The cost of the latter hotel, which is constructed on the most modern principles, was over Rs. 80,000	68-10	1 17
Berar—Or Hyderabad Assigned Districts, assigned by His Highness the Nizam to the British Government, under the treaties of 1854 and 1861. There are two distinct sections of Berar—namely, the Payanghat or lowland and the Balaghat or highland country above the Ajanta ridge. The principal places of trade are Akola, Amraoti, and Khangaon. Berar contains 17,711 square miles. Coins, British currency and copper dubs; the latter at 32 per rupee.
Betwa Canal Works (N.W.P.)—Are situated at Paricha, about 14 miles below the site of the great viaduct, on the Jhansi-Manickpur line, in the 9th mileage from Jhansi. A masonry dam has been constructed across the Betwa and other irrigation works are in progress. This river has its source near Bhopal, with a drainage area of about 11,000 square miles; the velocity is about 13 feet per second, or at an average of about 8·86 miles per hour during floods.

Bibinagar—Is a small town on the Nizam's State Ry., 21 miles from the Military Cantonment of Secunderabad. The present fortification, with four massive gates, was built a century ago by the favourite Begum (Janabul Nissa), of the then reigning Nizam, hence the name. Small game available.

Bijapur—By G. I. P. Ry. to Hotgi, 292 miles, south-east line, and thence 59 miles by Southern Mahratta Ry. Refreshment room and a travellers' bungalow. Tongas and bullock coaches may be obtained at short notice. Bijapur was at one time the head-quarters of a province under the Bidar Government. Yusaf Khan, a Turk, who was appointed Governor, rebelled in 1489, and set himself up as King of Bijapur under the title of usaf Adil Shah. His descendants continued to reign at Bijapur for nearly two hundred years, during which time the prosperity of the kingdom so increased that it became the second Mahomedan city in India. This naturally drew down upon it the jealousy of the Emperors of Delhi, who put forth their greatest efforts to subjugate it, and eventually it fell to Aurangzebe, who besieged and reduced the city in 1686. During this period the Adil Shahis adorned their capital with many noble buildings, the remains of which now testify to the lavish expenditure of labour and money that was freely bestowed upon them to make them what they are—works of art. Among the principal buildings left us are, the Great Gol Gumbaz, with one of the largest domes in the world, in which is a most remarkable whispering gallery; the Jumma Ma-jid; the Mehtar Mehal; the Asar Mahal; the Taj Bauri; the Ibrahim Ranza; the Gagan Mahal; the Satmanji; the Makka Mosque; the Chini Mahal; the Anand Mahal; the Ali II. Ranza; the Andu Masjid, etc. There are also some very large guns, chief among which is the Malik-i-Maidan with a calibre, 2 ft. 4 in. diameter. Two or three days can be well spent in rambling about this old city of ruins and its suburbs. Unlike Ahmedabad, which is a thickly built modern city, in which its remains are buried among the houses; Bijapur lies spread out upon the plain, a veritable Palmyra of the Deccan. From any elevated spot a grand view of the whole of its ruins may be seen from those beneath the spectator's feet to these miles away upon the distant horizon, interspersed with jungles of prickly-pear, fields, and small hamlets. What population has remained has for the most part settled down in the west end of the city, where the new bazaar is..... 21-10 ...

Bina (Etawah)—I. M. Ry. Jhansi-Bhopal line, 86 miles from Bhopal. Junction station for the military station of Saugor, C. P., (q. v.), opened 5th June 1889. Fares from Jhansi, Rs. 5-15-0 and Rs. 3-0-0, and from Harsi junction, Rs. 8-15-0 and Rs. 4-8-0. This junction station is named after the river Bina to avoid the village "Etawah" (vide maps), being mistaken "for Etawah" on the East Indian Railway. The river "Bina" is about 4 miles from the station, and is spanned by an iron girder bridge of four openings. Refreshment and waiting rooms. Wild boars and good sport can be got along the Bina river	37-15	...
Bolarum—Five miles north of Secunderabad. Head-quarters of the Hyderabad Contingent Troops, a Cavalry Field Battery, and an Infantry Corps. Telegraph Station. The British Resident remains in this station for about four months in the year; Healthy and picturesque. The Superintending Engineer's and Account-ant-General's Offices are located here. Bolarum is 1,893 feet above the level of the sea. The palatial European Cavalry Barracks, double stoned, deserve notice. Coins, Halli Sicca and Government.
Bombay—Passengers on the G. I. P. Railway, for the Fort, Marine Lines, Colaba, Esplanade, and Dhobie Talao, should book to and see their luggage labelled Victoria Terminus; and those for Grant Road, Byculla, Malabar Hill, Cumballa Hill, Mahaluxmi and Breach Candy should book to and have their luggage labelled Byculla.
Borivli (Dysur)—By B. B. and C. I. Ry. 22 miles. It is near the Caves of Montpezir, and the ruins of a Jesuit Monastery, to which large number of Roman Catholics periodically repair. The famous Kennery Caves are four miles from this station. There is a waiting room at the station	1-7	0 2
Broach—By B. B. and C. I. Ry. (203 miles)	12-12	0 8¾
12 miles from Broach, up the Nerbudda, is the celebrated Banyan tree, covering from three to four acres of ground, and 15 miles beyond this spot are the renowned cornelian mines, from which the Cambay market is supplied. There is a waiting room at the station; also a travellers' bungalow in the town. Conveyances are to be had at the station. Broach is a place of great commercial importance, being the principal station for cotton export in Gujerat, and possessing some of the prosperous mills in the Bombay Presidency. Sailing vessels trade as far as the Customs Bundar, and a large coasting trade is carried on, but the heavy exchange formerly existing with Bombay by sea has been much reduced since the opening of the Railway.

The above fares are by direct routes. By indirect routes an extra charge of one anna will be made.

Children under three years of age not occupying seats are carried free.

Children under ten are charged half fare, but no fare will be less than half anna.

Half-anna will be charged for half the One and half-anna fare.

Any child paying only half fare is not entitled to a seat if the same is wanted by a full-paying passenger.

SCHEDULE OF POSTAGE RATES AND LIST OF COUNTRIES AND PLACES SERVED BY THE FOREIGN POST.

1. A schedule of Foreign postage rates is given on the next page. Attention is drawn to the notes regarding Prepayment and Registration and the countries to which post-cards can be sent.

2. Packets of printed papers and legal and commercial documents may not measure more than 18 inches in any one direction; but they may also be packed in the form of a roll not exceeding 28 inches in length and 4 inches in diameter. Packets of samples in the form of a roll may not exceed 6 inches in diameter and 12 inches in length; if packed in any other form, they may not exceed 12 inches in length by 8 inches in width and 4 inches in depth.

Note.—In the case of samples for the United Kingdom and the British Australasian and South Africa, the limits of size are 2 feet in length by 1 foot in width and 1 foot in depth.

3. Packets of printed papers and legal and commercial documents may not exceed 4lb. 6 oz. Packets of samples may not exceed 8 oz.

Note 1.—The limit of weight for all classes of packets addressed to the United Kingdom and the British Colonies in South Africa, and for packets and printed papers and legal and commercial documents addressed to the British Australasian Colonies.

Note 2.—The limits of weight is 12 annas for packets of samples addressed to the British Australasian Colonies, Austria, Belgrime, Egypt, France, Hungary, Italy, Portugal and Roumania.

4. The registration fee is two annas in all cases, and must, together with the postage, be prepaid in all cases of registration.

5. Acknowledgments can only be obtained for registered articles addressed to Union countries. The fee, two annas in all cases, must, together with the registration fee and postage, be prepaid.

6. Articles other than letters and post-cards must be prepaid at least partly in all cases where full prepayment is not compulsory, for cases where full prepayment is required.

7. A List of countries and places served by the Foreign Post with the routes generally used is given after the schedule of foreign postage rates. The places to which the Indian inland rates apply are distinguished by remarks in column 3 of the list; in all other cases the Union rates are applicable. The countries and places to which post-cards cannot be sent or registration is not available or prepayment is compulsory, are also distinguished by remarks in column 3 of the list.

8. Where the description of the route in column 2 of the list contains no mention of any particular Indian Office of despatch, the mails are forwarded via Bombay, or from Aden in the case of correspondence posted at Aden.

9. The name immediately following the word "through" in column 2 of the List is that of the country or office to which the mails are consigned by the Indian Post Office.

10. For further explanations, etc., and for information about the treatment as correspondence received from places abroad.

11. For information regarding Foreign parcels, see page 97.

INTRODUCTORY.

The term "Foreign Post" means the post maintained by land between the continent of India and foreign countries and the post maintained by sea, whether by contract steamer or private vessel, between the continent of India and other British possessions (with the exception of the post maintained by contract steamer with the Andamans, the Nicobar Islands and Burma), and between the continent of India and foreign countries (with the exception of the post maintained by contract steamers with Post Offices in the Persian Gulf and at Basrah and Bagdad).

It further includes the post maintained between the various ports of the continent of India, and between the continent of India and the Andamans, Nicobar Islands and Burma, by any line or vessel not under direct contract with the Government of India.

The "Universal Postal Union" has been established with a view to secure, as far as possible, uniformity in procedure and in rates of postage between the various countries of the world. The countries which have joined this Union are called "Union countries."

PRINTED PAPERS.

DEFINITION OF TERM PRINTED PAPERS.—"Printed papers" include newspapers and periodicals, books, pamphlets, music, visiting cards, address cards, proofs of printing with or without the manuscript relating thereto, papers impressed with prints in relief for the use of the blind, engraving, photographs, pictures, drawings, plans, maps, papers or cards embossed in plain relief, catalogues, prospectuses, announcements and notices of various kinds, whether printed, engraved, lithographed, or autographed, and in general all impressions or copies obtained on paper, parchment, or card-board, by means of printing, engraving, lithography, autography or any other mechanical process easy to recognise, except the copying-press and the Type-writer.

Stamps or forms of pre-payment, whether obliterated or not, and any printed matter representing a monetary value, are excluded from classification as "printed papers."

LEGAL AND COMMERCIAL DOCUMENTS.

DEFINITION OF TERM (BUSINESS) PAPERS.—"Legal and Commercial Papers" (business papers) include all deeds or documents, written or drawn wholly or partly by hand, which have not the character of an actual and personal correspondence, such as papers of legal procedure, deeds of all kinds drawn up by public functionaries, way-bills and bills of lading, invoices, the various documents of insurance companies, copies of, or extracts from private deeds written on stamped or unstamped paper, scores or sheets of manuscript, music, manuscripts of works forwarded separately, &c. They are also held to include such written articles intended for publication in newspapers as are not of the nature of a personal letter as well as written descriptions or hand-sketches of places which are sent for publication.

CORRESPONDENCE FOR TURKISH ARABIA.

SPECIAL RULES REGARDING CORRESPONDENCE FOR PLACES BETWEEN BUSRAH AND BUGDAD.—The Indian Government maintains Post Office at Busrah and Bagdad. It does not, however, undertake to deliver articles posted for Kot-el-Amarah, Amarah, or other Turkish towns between Bagdad and Busrah. Such articles, if posted, will be transferred to the Dead Letter Office for return to the senders.

ARTICLES NOT ALLOWED TO BE SENT BY FOREIGN POST.

DANGEROUS AND OFFENSIVE SUBSTANCES.—Explosive, dangerous, damaging, or offensive substances, such as gunpowder, matches, percussion caps, saltpetre, indigo, assafœtida, liquids, oils, fatty substances, dry powders, whether dyes or not, &c., and animals or insects, living or dead, may not be sent by the Foreign Post; or any article which, either from its own nature or by reason of insecure packing, may be likely to injure the contents of the mail bags or the persons of the mail officers.

Prepayment is compulsory at the rates shown in the Foreign Parcel Post Schedule at the end of this Section. The postage must be paid by means of postage stamps affixed by the sender or his messenger either to the parcel itself or to an official label, obtainable free at the post office, pasted on the parcel. In the case of service parcels, service stamps must be used for this purpose.

Note.—Parcels may be sent to the United Kingdom and to countries served through the United Kingdom either by the sea route via Gibraltar or by the overland route across the Continent of Europe, the postage being higher by the latter than by the former route. The sender must specify clearly by which route the parcel is to be forwarded, by writing on the cover of the parcel or on the official label pasted to it either the words "via Gibraltar" or the word "Overland."

Every parcel must be accompanied by a customs declaration (in the prescribed form, which is obtainable gratis at every Post Office), bearing the address of the parcel to which it relates, and a declaration of its contents and value, as well as the signature and address of the sender. The contents should be stated in full detail, a separate description of each article, and its value, being given. The value must always be stated in British sterling money, except in the cases of the exchanges with Ceylon, British East Africa, Mauritius, Seychelles, and Zanzibar, in which cases the value must be stated in Indian money. When the contents of a parcel are liable to duty in the country of destination, an incorrect declaration of value renders the parcel liable to confiscation. Declarations written on any but the prescribed form cannot be accepted.

Note.—When filling up declarations, the use of the sign, "etc.," should be carefully avoided, as it is regarded with suspicion by the customs authorities.

A receipt will be given by the Post Office to the sender of a parcel.

Every parcel for transmission by the foreign parcel post must be packed with due regard to the nature of the contents and the length of the journey in a case, wrapper, or cover, fastened and sealed in a manner calculated to preserve the contents from loss or damage in the post and to prevent any one from tampering therewith without either breaking the seal or seals or leaving obvious traces of violation. The packing of a parcel must also be such as to prevent its contents from causing injury to other parcels.

A foreign parcel may not contain another parcel, or a letter, or other postal packet intended for delivery to a person other than the addressee of the first-named parcel. Nor may a foreign parcel contain opium, liquids (unless securely packed in proper cases), or any article which is not allowed to be sent by the inland parcel post by the prohibitions in clauses 88 and 90. Furthermore, a foreign parcel may not contain any article or substance specially prohibited from importation into the particular country or colony to which it is addressed: for particulars regarding articles thus specially prohibited, reference should be made to the Foreign Parcel Post Schedule at the end of this Section.

The transmission of the following articles by the Foreign parcel post is also temporarily prohibited:—

Used body linen, clothes, bedding and other personal effects; rags, including rags compressed by hydraulic pressure and transported in bales as merchandise; used sacking, carpets, and old embroidery; green and untanned hides and skins; animal refuse, claws, hoofs, horse hair, hair of animals generally, raw silk and wool; and human hair.

Parcels infringing any of the rules or conditions regarding prepayment, weight, size, or value, or containing forbidden articles or uninsured valuables for which insurance is compulsory will not be forwarded.

When complaints are made regarding delay in the arrival of parcels at their destination, or damage to their contents, the Post Office is always glad to make enquiries. Applications should be made at the Post Office at which the parcels were posted, and should be accompanied by the receipt granted at the time of posting. Parcels exceeding 11 lbs. in weight addressed to the United Kingdom are forwarded through the medium of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, and senders are recommended to advise the addressees to apply direct (in cases of complaint) to the P. and O. S. N. Co., 122, Leadenhall Street, London, E.C.

Note.—In the case of parcels sent from India to the United Kingdom, or from the United Kingdom to India by the sea route via Gibraltar, the period of transit is something over a week longer than in the case of letters.

Except within the limits with reference to insured parcels, the Indian Post Office is not responsible for any loss or damage which may occur with respect to parcels despatched from India.

Import customs duty charged on a parcel must be paid before delivery. The Post Office will assist the addressed in enquiries as to any overcharge of duty; but it has no part in the assessment, and any claim for a refund should be made by the addressee to the customs authorities. The Post Office will, if desired, forward any such claim, free of charge, and pending the decision of the customs authorities, the parcel may, at the option of the addressee, be left in deposit at the office of delivery.

The foregoing rules govern the exchange of parcels with Foreign Countries generally: for information regarding rates of postage, conditions, and special rules concerning parcels exchanged with particular Countries, reference should be made to the Foreign Parcel Post Schedule, and to the following clauses.

INSURANCE OF FOREIGN PARCELS.

Insurance of Foreign parcels is of two kinds, viz., complete insurance or insurance to destination, and inland insurance or insurance during transit in India. Complete insurance covers all risks during transit by land (except risks arising out of highway robbery in Native States in India) and all risks during transit by sea. Inland insurance covers all risks during transit in India (except risks arising out of highway robbery in Native States), but does not cover any risks by sea or land after a parcel has quitted the shores of India.

Note 1.—A Post Office marked ¶¶ or †† in the list of Post Offices cannot accept for despatch by the Foreign parcel post any parcel (whether tendered for insurance or not) for which either inland or complete insurance is compulsory.

Note 2.—No special restriction is imposed on a Post Office marked ¶ in the list of Post Offices as regards the insurance of Foreign parcels. This distinguishing mark has reference only to the insurance of inland articles.

Complete insurance is available for parcels addressed to the United Kingdom which do not exceed 11 lbs. in weight and for parcels addressed to the British colonies and possessions and foreign countries named below, i.e., such parcels can be insured from the place of posting to destination :—

Antigua.	Falkland Islands.	Portugal.
Ascension.	Germany.	Roumania.
Azores.	Gambia.	Russia in Europe (including Finland).
Bahamas.	Grenada.	St. Helena.
Barbadoes.	Hong Kong.	St. Kitts.
Belgium.	Italy.	St. Lucia.
Bermuda.	Lagos.	St. Vincent.
Beyrout (British post office).	Liberia (Monrovia).	Servia.
British Guiana.	Luxemburg.	Smyrna (British post office).
Cameroons.	Madeira.	† Straits Settlements.
Ceylon.	Montenegro.	Sweden.
Constantinople (British post office).	Montserrat.	Switzerland.
Denmark.	Nevis.	Tobago.
Dominica.	Newfoundland.	Tortola.
*Egypt.	Netherlands.	Trinidad.
Eritrea (Italian Colony).	Niger Coast Protectorate.	Tripoli in Barbary.
	Norway.

Parcels for which complete insurance is available must be insured to destination, when they contain coin, bullion, precious stones, jewellery, watches, or articles of gold or silver : in all other cases they may be insured to destination at the option of the senders.

Note.—The term "articles of gold or silver" includes articles made wholly or partly of gold or silver, but not electro or other plated goods or gold or silver lace or embroidery.

The charge for insurance to destination is as follows; prepayment of the fee in postage stamps is compulsory :—

To Ceylon	When the value declared does not exceed Rs. 100	As. 4
	For every additional Rs. 100 or fraction thereof.	„ 4
To any of the foreign countries or British colonies and possessions other than Ceylon.	When the value declared does not exceed £5	As. 6
	For every additional £5 or fraction thereof	„ 6

When an insured parcel is redirected from one country to another, a fresh insurance fee becomes payable for each such transmission. If this fee is not prepaid, it is collected from the addressee on delivery. Insured parcels can only be redirected to countries which have adopted the insurance system.

The maximum amount up to which a parcel addressed to the United Kingdom can be insured to destination is £50 when sent by the sea route via Gibraltar and £20 when sent by the overland route across the continent of Europe. All insured parcels for the United Kingdom and countries served through the United Kingdom intended for transmission by the overland route will be forwarded via Brindisi, as insured parcels cannot be sent to the United Kingdom via Marseilles.

* Insurance is not available for parcels addressed to places in the Soudan (for example to Debbah, Dongola, Halfa, Korti, Merawi and Tewfikia).

† Insurance is available on parcels addressed only to the post-towns of Singapore, Penang, and Malacca, the Province Wellesly, the Dindings, and Selangor.

The maximum amount up to which a foreign parcel addressed to other countries can be insured to destination is given below :—

(1) To Egypt, Hongkong, and the Straits Settlements, the limit is £50.

(2) To Antigua, Ascension, Bahamas, Barbadoes, Bermuda, British Guiana, Dominica, Falkland Islands, Gambia, Grenada, Lagos, Montserrat, Nevis, Newfoundland, Niger Coast Protectorate, St. Helena, St. Kitts, St. Lucia, St. Vincent, Tobago, Tortola and Trinidad, the limit is £50 when sent via Gibraltar and £20 when sent via Brindisi.

(3) To Belgium, Cameroons, Denmark, Germany, Luxemburg, Montenegro, the Netherlands, Norway, Russia in Europe (including Finland) Sweden and Switzerland, the limit is £40.

(5) To Ceylon the limit is Rs. 1,000.

Note.—The maximum amounts mentioned above are subject to the proviso that in no case can a foreign parcel be insured at a branch office for more than £25 when the value is declared in sterling, or Rs. 500 when the value is declared in rupees.

Foreign parcels containing coin, bullion, precious stones, jewellery, or articles of gold or silver which cannot be insured to destination, must be insured during inland transit; as under the inland rules no parcel containing such valuables can be received for transmission by post unless insured. Foreign parcels cannot, however, be insured only for inland transit when complete insurance is available to destination. The rates for inland insurance are as follows :—

(a) When the value is declared in sterling money.

When the value insured does not exceed £3	2 annas.
For every additional £3, or fraction thereof up to £50 or up to the limit of value entered against the country of destination in the foreign parcel post schedule, whichever may be less	2 annas.

(b) When the value is declared in Indian money.

When the value insured does not exceed Rs. 50.....	2 annas.
For every additional Rs. 50, or fraction thereof up to Rs. 1,000 or up to the limit of value entered against the country of destination in the foreign parcel post schedule, whichever may be less ...	2 annas.

Note.—A foreign parcel cannot be insured at a branch office for more than £25 when the value is declared in sterling, or Rs. 500 when the value is declared in rupees.

Parcels intended for insurance must be presented at the Post Office window with the usual customs declaration prescribed for ordinary foreign parcels, and also with the prescribed form of receipt for insured Foreign parcels.

Every insured parcel must be packed securely and substantially, with due regard to the nature of the contents and the length of the journey, in an outer covering of cloth, wax-cloth, or wood, and it must bear seals at intervals not exceeding three inches along each line of sewing or join. All the seals must be of the same kind of wax, and must bear distinct impressions of the same device. The device must not be that of a current coin or merely a collection of straight, curved, or crossed lines.

In the case of complete insurance to destination, compensation, not exceeding the insured value, will be granted to the sender of an insured parcel for any actual loss or damage occurring during transit, except in the cases described below.

The excepted cases are as follows :—

(a) -Misdelivery arising out of incorrectness or incompleteness of the address written by the sender.

(b)—Fraud on the part of the sender or addressee, or wrong declaration, on the part of the sender, or incomplete declaration on the part of the sender owing to his failure or omission to furnish in such declaration any particulars as to value or description or number that may be required to be furnished regarding them.

(c)—When the sender or addressee does not give intimation of loss within twelve months from the date of posting.

(d)—When there is no visible damage to the cover or seals; it being understood that the sender must so pack the parcel that its contents cannot be touched without visible damage, as aforesaid, being caused.

(e)—When the loss occurs through highway robbery in a Native State in India.

No compensation will be granted in respect of damage (as distinguished from loss) to a parcel containing—

(f)—Liquids or semi-liquids.

(g)—Articles of an exceptionally fragile nature, or articles which from their nature cannot with reasonable safety be sent by post.

(h)—Perishable articles, where damage arises from natural decay, and the parcels are delivered without undue delay.

In the case of inland insurance, the Government will guarantee the safe transit in India and will grant compensation, not exceeding the insured value, for any actual loss or damage occurring during inland transit.

Claims for compensation must be made within twelve months of the date of posting, and when the claim relates to damage, the parcel should be presented by the addressee for inspection as nearly as possible in the state in which it was delivered. When a parcel bears signs of injury the addressee should call attention to the fact of such injury at the time of delivery, and, if possible, open the parcel in the presence of an officer of the Post Office. The decision of the Head of the Post Office as to all questions of compensation will be final.

If deemed fit, the contents of a lost or damaged parcel will be reinstated in place of pecuniary compensation. When compensation is given for loss of a parcel or for the loss of any article contained in a parcel, the right is reserved to retain and dispose of the missing parcel, or article if subsequently recovered. In no case will compensation be given for injury or damage consequential upon the loss, damage, or delay of a parcel or of any of its contents. Compensation may be refused for loss or damage on any ground on which a common carrier might in like case claim exemption from legal liability.

PARCELS FOR THE UNITED KINGDOM.

Parcels addressed to the United Kingdom are divided into two classes, viz., (i) those not exceeding 11 lbs. in weight, and (ii) those exceeding 11 lbs. but not exceeding 50 lbs. in weight.

(i)—Parcels not exceeding 11 lbs. in weight are forwarded as mails to the British Post Office. They may, at the option of the sender, be posted for despatch either by the sea route via Gibraltar or by the overland route across the continent of Europe, the postage being higher by the latter than by the former route. The sender must specify clearly on the cover of the parcel or on the official label pasted to it the route by which it is to be forwarded. These parcels are delivered by the Post Office, and the postage paid carries them to destination.

Note.—Uninsured parcels for transmission overland across the continent of Europe are forwarded either via Brindisi or via Marseilles, according to the route which is considered to be the more suitable one for each despatch. Insured parcels for transmission by the overland route are always forwarded via Brindisi (see clause 223).

ii)—Parcels which exceed 11 lbs. but which do not exceed 50 lbs. (the maximum allowed) in weight are forwarded from India through the medium of the P. & O. S. N. Co., and are delivered at destination under arrangements made by that Company. Such parcels are delivered free of charge within a radius of one mile from the Company's Head Office in London; if addressed to any place beyond that radius, carrier's charges are levied from the addressees on delivery. Parcels thus forwarded through the P. & O. Co. cannot be insured during transit beyond India, but must, if they contain coin, &c., be insured during transit in India.

Note.—39 tolas are reckoned as the equivalent of 1 lb.

PARCELS FROM THE UNITED KINGDOM.

The British Post Office receives parcels for India if they do not exceed 11 lbs. in weight. Parcels above that weight are received by the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company at its offices in London. The rules governing the despatch of parcels from the United Kingdom are published in the British Post Office Guide, and exhibited at every British Post Office; but enquiries in the United Kingdon should, in the case of parcels not exceeding 11 lbs. in weight, be addressed to the secretary, G. P. O., London, and enquiries regarding parcels above that weight should be addressed to the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, 122, Leadenhall Street, London, E. C.

The rates of postage for parcels forwarded to India are as follows, viz. :—

(See next clause regarding Books.)

Books despatched through the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company to India are chargeable with postage at the rate of six pence per pound. Books sent through the British Post Office as parcels must be prepaid at the rates applicable to ordinary parcels.

Parcels containing jewellery, gold, silver, watches, or precious stones despatched through the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, are liable to an extra ad valorem rates of 1s. per £5 of value. On such parcels the ad valorem rate (as well as the postage) must be prepaid.

Parcels despatched by the British Post Office can be insured to destination in India. The rule regarding the insurance of parcels despatched from the United Kingdom will be found in the British Post Office Guide.

Parcels despatched through the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company may, at the option of the senders, be insured in London to destination (in India) at a charge of 1s. per £5 of value.

The Indian Post Office is not responsible for any loss or damage which may occur with respect to uninsured parcels despatched to India,

FOREIGN PRESS TELEGRAMS AT REDUCED RATES.

UNITED KINGDOM.

Telegrams in plain English containing news or intelligence for publication in newspapers are transmitted, via Teheran or via Suez from the United Kingdom to India and Burma, and from Government Telegraph Offices in India and Burma to the United Kingdom, at reduced rates subject to the following conditions:—

I.—The newspapers, their correspondents or agents, are required to address their telegrams to a registered newspaper, and such newspaper is prohibited from selling, distributing or communicating such telegrams to clubs, exchanges, or news-rooms, or disposing of them for any purpose whatsoever, either directly or indirectly, other than for publication in registered newspapers.

II.—Telegrams at the reduced rate shall not be allowed to interfere with the transmission of telegrams at full rates, and in order to ensure this, the transmission of such News telegrams may be deferred or suspended, or interrupted until any State or Private telegram or any Press telegram at full rates, which may be on hand, shall have been transmitted and completed. On the lines of the Indian Telegraph Department such telegrams will take precedence with Ordinary Inland telegrams.

III.—No telegrams shall be transmitted at the reduced rate except for publication in a newspaper, and they must be written in Plain English so as to be intelligible to the transmitting Offices. Telegrams containing news or information not for publication, or containing Code words or words of concealed meaning, or groups of figures or ciphers, shall be paid for at the full tariff rates.

IV.—The news transmitted in such telegrams at the reduced rate must be duly published in the newspapers to which they may be addressed, or satisfactory reasons be given for non-publication, in the absence of which full tariff rates will be chargeable.

V.—All Press telegrams at the reduced rate must be prepaid, except under special arrangements made by an authorised newspaper for a specially nominated correspondent.

VI.—The reduced rate for Press telegrams applies only when all the above conditions have been satisfied, and any subsequent claim made for the difference between the reduced and full rates must be satisfied immediately on demand.

CANNOT BE MULTIPLE.—A Press telegram sent as above at reduced rates cannot be Multiple; in other words it must be addressed to only one newspaper.

HOW MARKED, &C.—Press telegrams must be marked Press by the Senders, and the benefit of press rates must be claimed by them at the time the telegrams are tendered for despatch.

* From Offices in Burma the charge to Ceylon is four annas six pies a word. Twelve annas boat-hire must be prepaid on telegrams intended to be delivered on board ships in Ceylon ports. In such cases the abbreviation XP, which is counted and charged for as one word, should be inserted before the Address as an indication that boat-hire has been prepaid.

† Telegrams for all places in Persia, except Bushire, Ispahan, Kirmanshah Meshed, Salmas, Shiraz, Tabriz (Tauris,) and Teheran, must be written in French or in Persian, (Roman characters) and in plain language.

N. B.—Bushire is now considered a Persian, and not a Persian Gulf, office.

‡ To Charbar, Ormara, Gwadur, and Jask, the local charge from Karachi only via Land Line is two annas a word.

From Jask telegrams can be sent as under:—

To Bassidore, Bunder Abbas and Lingah, at an express charge of Rs. 27-0 per message.

To Muscat at an express charge of Rs. 54-0 per message. In such cases "Express" or "XP" should be entered before the Address, and these extra charges must be prepaid by the sender.

Telegrams may also be sent to Bassidore, and Lingah from Jask or Gwadur, and to Muscat from Gwadur by fortnightly mail steamer. In such cases the words "Post Jask" or Post Gwadur must be added in the address, which words are charged for. For dates of departure of mail steamers, consult B. I. S. N. Co.'s Time Table. As these places are within the limits of the Indian Postal Tariff, no postage fee is leviable from the sender.
